ROCKVIEW, PENN., Mar. 28.—Quincey Wallandz, wife murderer, went to a belated death in the death chamber here today after nature's elements—wind and snow—had given him a temporary respite of two hours and 37 minutes. Wallandz entered the death chamber at 9:35. He was strapped in the chair at 9:37, one shock hurled through his form at 9:38 and he was pronounced dead four minutes later.

Shows No Emotion
The slayer displayed no emotion as he walked through the little gray door. A smile flitted across his swarthy face as he first glimpsed the plain oak chair. He walked unaided to his doom. A heavy snowfall delayed Wallandz' execution, originally set for 7 o'clock this morning. It was necessary to bring the prison physician (Continued On Page Two)

PA NEW OBSERVES

Spring has been getting a rather chilly reception from the weather makers. It has been more like winter than anything else since the balmy period was ushered in a week ago. However, it won't last much longer, one has that consolation.

PA News observed quite a lot of Easter finery being worn yesterday, the young ladies being attired in a galaxy of colors, significant of Easteride.

Four more days, and one will have to watch his step because of the April Fool. There will be the usual attempts of practical jokers to slip one over on their friends on the coming occasion.

Not to be outdone by the magnificent shoulder corsages worn by many of the fair sex on Easter day, many little crocus along Highland avenue held up their glorious blooms Sunday and some of the lawns were dotted by the dainty yellow and purple flowers.

Well, another glorious Easter day has passed into history and the day was perfect for the Easter parade and as the congregations filed forth from the city churches many gorgeous new outfits in the new spring (Continued On Page Two)

Weather Man Relents! Cooks Up Fair Easter

Okay, Weather Man! You are all right, old chap! And forgive us for being so apprehensive Saturday. After all those threats, you cooked up a pretty good Easter Sunday and, well, we've got to hand it to you for being a very diplomatic creature. Any time you run for office on a dry ticket, you will get our vote.
Yes, it was a fine Easter and not for years has there been such a brilliant array of people on the streets of New Castle. When the morning bells began their tolling, hundreds of beautifully ensembled ladies, escorted by well groomed men, flooded the streets. Many went to church. Others went motoring. Others went to grandmothers to spend the day chatting and eating well browned stuffed chickens.
And by the way—Madame Fashion, (wise old predictor,) told us a short time ago that the popular colors for milady's costumes this spring would be blue, blue and blue. And how true she was! Did you notice, too? Every other parader yesterday was attired in a chic ensemble of which blue was the predominating color.
There was a blue sky overhead and every once in awhile the sun grinned from behind a lacy cloud. We are even so polite that we won't mention the drastic change in weather that came "when the gold of the day met the blue of the night." All the Weather Man's suppressed desires gave away around 9 o'clock and that rain and snow he had been pledged to, arrived in a concentrated form. But who cared? The show was over—and what a glorious show it was!

Rep. Wagner Believes Government Should Complete Program

Many Projects Of 1926 Are Not As Yet Started He Declares

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—A new drive for unemployment relief was launched in the Senate today by Senator Wagner (D) of New York, who sponsored a bill designed to force Congress into completing its 1926 public building program during the coming year.

Completion of the program at this time, said Wagner, would give profitable employment to hundreds of thousands of men, spur industrial activity generally, increase freight returns of railroads and tend to bring back prosperity. He pointed out that work on many hundreds of projects, included in the 1926 program, has been postponed indefinitely, because Congress failed to authorize or appropriate the necessary funds.

Test Case
Wagner proposed to make a "test case" out of New York's allotment of the five year old program. His bill would authorize an appropriation of $21,275,000 for erection of 106 public buildings, scattered throughout New York State. All these projects were included in the 1926 act. "In these days of business depression," said Wagner, "The Federal (Continued On Page Two)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—Three cabinet officers—secretaries of treasury, commerce and agriculture—today were summoned to the aid of a house ways and means committee engaged in framing a substitute for the $595,000,000 sales tax plan rejected by the house.
Harassed by the fear of injuring industry by levying special taxes to round out the budget-balancing $1,100,000,000 tax bill, the sub-committee planned to canvass the whole field of industry and agriculture with Secretaries Mills, Lamont and Hyde or their experts.

TRENTON, N. J., Mar. 28.—Ignoring the seemingly significant developments at Norfolk, Va., where intermediaries were reported to be in contact with the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby, Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, in his official statement to the press today, emphasized the efforts of the police to locate Harry Fleischer, reputed leader of the "Purple Gang" of Detroit and Abie Wagner of New York's lower east side.

Schwarzkopf, who is superintendent of the New Jersey state police, has in previous statements described Fleischer and Wagner as "known kidnapers."

Search Continues.
"The search for Harry Fleischer and Abie Wagner is being continued," said Schwarzkopf. "Many police made to the Boston authorities recently on this and have not reported their progress to us."

"The request of the Newark police made to the Boston authorities is evidently an independent investigation," Schwarzkopf continued. "No information concerning this has been forwarded to us."

Thousands Attend Easter Services Here

The Lenten pall was lifted Saturday at noon and Sunday morning the Easter day dawned with a crispness in the air that added its zest to the ecstatic joy of the glorious celebration of the "Day of Resurrection," bringing the hope of eternal life as the spring denotes the perennial life of nature's plants.
There were matin services in the Lutheran churches of the city, with the rich voices pouring forth the ever new story of "Christ is Risen" and the Alleluiahs that were the rejoicing words of the disciples on the first glad Easter morn.
Breakfasts were held in many of the churches, these being sponsored by the young people's societies; the young voices mingled in everlasting praise as the early services were conducted in commemoration of the early arrival of Jesus' friends at his tomb of that Sunday two thousand years ago, which has come down through the ages with the promise of life after the grave.

WILL ROGERS says:

(Special To The News)
SANTA MONICA, Cal., Mar. 28.—Mr. Calvin Coolidge had a mighty instructive article on finance in last week's Sat-Eve-Post.
We got a long sighted government. When everybody has got money, they cut the taxes, and when they're broke, they raise 'em. That's statesmanship of the highest order.
The reason there wasn't much unemployment in the last ten years preceding '29 was every man that was out of a job went to work for the government, state, or city.
It costs ten times more to govern us than it used to, and we are not governed one-tenth as good.

New Twister Sweeps North-

siderable Damage

(International News Service)
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Mar. 28.—Just beginning to recuperate from the worst storm disaster in the history of the South, wide sections of Alabama and Georgia lay waste today as the aftermath of a new series of tornadoes.

Describing a semicircular path, the black-funnelled twisters yesterday struck first at Lawley, Ala., and before their work of devastation had been completed nine persons were killed and at least 50 injured.

Just as in the tornado catastrophe of last week when more than 350 lives were lost, Alabama again was the heaviest sufferer in this new visitation of windstorms. All of the nine deaths occurred within the borders of this tornado-ravaged state and most of the injuries were recorded in the nine Alabama counties which felt the fury of the twisters.

Sweeps Northwest
Striking first in the countryside southwest of Lawley in central Alabama the tornadoes roared eastward dipped into the western fringes of Georgia, proceeded northward and then turned to the northwest.
Of the towns visited by the violent windstorms, Lawley suffered the most, reporting five deaths and injuries to at least 20 persons. Near Thorsby two persons perished, while the remaining two known deaths occurred at White Plains.

Makes Confession
Eddington, police said, made a written confession admitting having criminally attacked Ruth Youngblood, a Magnolia A. and M. college student, before he battered her head with a rock and hurled her to her death under the wheels of a freight train.
The girl was about to start on a trip to spend the Easter holiday with her nearest relative, A. D. Dulane, an uncle and the state insurance commissioner, at Little Rock. Waiting for her train, she was strolling along the tracks when Eddington, a 33-year-old itinerant, accosted her.
According to the man's confession, he overpowered the girl student and (Continued On Page Five)

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—Speaker John N. Garner is preparing to take the floor of the House, if necessary, with an appeal to members to vote sufficient taxes to balance the Federal budget and preserve the credit of the nation.
This was learned authoritatively today following a conference between the speaker and newspapermen in which he reiterated his oft-repeated declaration that the treasury deficit "must be ended."
Although the speaker declined to comment on reports that he would make his first speech from the floor this session on the tax bill, he disclosed a determination to place the financial affairs of the nation on a sound basis.

Joins President Hoover
In this position, Garner joined President Hoover, Secretary of the Treasury Mills and leaders of both parties in Congress.
"It is my view that the budget must be balanced," Garner told newspapermen. "I have consistently stated that running expenses of the government will have to be paid.
"If you gentlemen remember when I first returned to Washington Nov. 10 I said that the budget must be balanced.
The first meeting of the Democratic policy committee, composed of ten senators and ten representatives, unanimously agreed to this point.
"It has come to a point now where the worst kind of additional taxes are better than no taxes at all."

THOUSANDS SHARE IN EGG ROLLING

Annual Pageant At White House

Three Hundred Children Are Especial Guests Of Mrs. Hoover

EXPECT 50,000 TO ENJOY PROGRAM

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—Wee Willie, the rackets, took up an unobtrusive post near the southeast gate of the White House this morning. His Easter hadn't been any too successful and Wee Willie was set for a killing.

Everything was in his favor except the weather. His carefully laid plans hinged almost entirely on a bright, sunny day. Drenched lawn and trees and heavy skies indicated his operations would be hampered considerably. Hence, he kept one eye on the president's back gate and the other on the condition of the skies.

Young Rackets. Wee Willie was no ordinary extortionist. In fact, his racket was of such a nature that he works but once a year. He took pride in being recognized as one of the masterminds of the White House egg-rolling racket, and why not? He had gotten in five years ago on the ground floor when he was only seven years old.

Briefly, the diminutive Willie from "Poggy Bottom" was prepared to pilot children, tourists past the watchful White House police and into the south grounds for the annual Easter Monday egg rolling.

His rate ran from a ten-cent minimum up to anything the affluence of his victims produced. True, he was two years above the ten-cent age limit set by Mrs. Hoover, but his slight stature and guileless face stood him in good stead.

Reap Big Harvest. Weather permitting, Willie was in a position this year to reap a harvest. Each successive Easter since she entered the White House, Mrs. Hoover has striven to elevate the traditional egg rolling carnival about a mere hit-or-miss picnic status, and today she had arranged an ambitious program of publicity and costumes, should draw the attention of adults who are so unfortunate as to be without children of their own.

The White House rules are very strict that each grown person who enters the grounds must be accompanied by a child under ten, and that is where Willie comes in. They escort a tourist through one gate, collect, scamper out another exit and wait for another customer.

Between 35,000 and 50,000 grown-ups and children will pass into the grounds between 9 this morning and the afternoon, again dependent on the weather. Some 200 of the "chosen" among the capital's children—the sons and daughters of officials, congressmen and social leaders—were given a little special attention, having been invited by Mrs. Hoover to join her at 9 a. m. in the east room.

Party in White House. After greeting each, the first lady ushered them all into the big state dining room where ice cream, cake and lemonade were served. This early morning party out of the way, the youngsters collected their baskets of Easter eggs and joined the throng in the south grounds.

Children from the neighborhood, the playground group, friendship house, the Girl Reserves and Girl Scouts will hold a succession of minuets, Virginia reels, quadrilles and Indian and animal dances in roped-off areas, music being rendered by the Marine band.

A "lost-and-found" department set up for the day by police to handle children who stray away from their parents was doing a brisk business. Climable trees and the fountain have been roped off to curb the ambitions of small boys. First-aid stations are located in tents at strategic points.

shades and styles were seen, and on many shoulders beautiful corsages in brilliant shades were worn.

Pa Newc is still of the opinion that there are a lot of antiquated and dilapidated buildings around Lawrence County that should be razed. Especially along the improved highways in the county are there remnants of barns and abandoned buildings that should be torn down.

Spring plowing will be almost a nonentity this spring in Lawrence County. Most all of the plowing is already done, if Pa Newc is any judge. The mild weather of the winter has allowed the farmers to do their plowing most any time they desired, and a large part of the work has already been done.

Right now, even though the income tax filing date has passed, the government's collectors in the New Castle district find plenty of things to occupy their time. Uncle Sam has a system of checking on delinquent payers. This forms a part of their post-filing duties.

A Pennsylvania dog law enforcement officer told Pa Newc today that roaming dogs found about Lawrence County are going to be nabbed if they find the required license tags are missing. Prosecutions have been started in an effort to enforce the act.

Certain downtown parking and "stop" signs might be straightened. The winter leaves them leaning in all directions.

Pa Newc believes that a little really effective work for the Chamber of Commerce would be to stir up the postoffice building project. It seems that delays in this project are longer than necessary. A little prodding from the official New Castle organization might help some.

How college and high school players can take part in so many games that seem to carry the flavor of professionalism is a mystery to Pa Newc.

Automobile thieves who believe themselves to be protected by filing away the engine number on the stolen car had better beware for police now have a trick solution and process which rarely fails to bring to the surface defaced numbers. Many a car has been identified that way, Pa Newc is told.

Spring lawn rolling is already under way in some parts of the city Pa Newc is informed.

Wonder why New Wilmington doesn't require the raising of that fire building are anything but an imposing sight in the center of the beautiful college town. It should be torn down and rebuilt, or the property improved after it is razed.

One glance at the fenders and under-carriage of automobiles coming out of the northern area blizzard this morning would convey a good impression as to what the weatherman's behavior was like over the Easter holiday in those parts. Dirty snow at its worse, one motorist who spent six hours covering 140 miles reported.

Pa Newc happened to notice this morning that the bricks in the Knobloch building at the corner of Mercer and Lawrence streets, seemed to be crumbling away, and upon inquiring was informed that this was due to the action of the salt used in preserving the hides. Every few years, the bricks have to be renewed, as the salt causes them to crumble away.

Fireman Norman Minner of the Central department is being groomed by his fellow workers as the champion ice cream eater, under the personal management of George Harper. Saturday, the firemen were enjoying a little home-made ice cream with their lunch, and Minner promised to eat what was left in the freezer, consisting of seven large scoops, along with a half-dozen bananas.

Fireman Harper made a wager with him that he couldn't do it, and after finishing the ice cream, Minner proceeded to eat an apple and an orange, just to show that he could have eaten more ice cream than there been any more. Harper, then refused to pay the wager, claiming that Minner exceeded his promise.

A serious campaign is being waged against dance halls which remain operating after midnight on Saturday nights. It is against the blue laws and a place up at Conneaut got hauled in last Saturday night. State Highway Patrolmen from Meadville made several arrests.

As the new plan was evolved, it became known that the Mellon-Mills plan of selected stamp and sales taxes had been rejected as a blanket substitute for the sales tax.

Instead, the sub-committee canvassed at least 100 industries with the hope that it can spread the huge special levy as thinly as possible and still avoid defeat in the house on the ground that it is proposing another sales tax.

Heads of house committees also were canvassed in the hope that the economy route can be used to make up part of the deficit in the tax bill.

WOULD SPEED UP BUILDING PROGRAM

Government ought to undertake as much as possible of its necessary construction work to provide a stimulus to business and industry and create employment for those who are unable to find work.

"It is sound business for the Federal Government to build at the present time when low prices prevail. Such a course is the essence of wise economy and prudence. The buildings called for by my amendment are those recommended by the Treasury and Post Office Departments. It should be emphasized that if we do not build these structures now, we shall have to build them within the next year or two in any event. Their construction now will serve the double purpose of providing the government with the necessary buildings in which to conduct its business and at the same time, provide work for those who have been without jobs for three long winters."

spring clothes hug the body. Seams and figure lines are out to claim attention.

Black-Blue Favored Although navy blue and a shade brighter than navy had the majority vote, the smartest suits and coats in any one color were black. New York's fashionable set was almost exclusively in black, with a preference for the two-piece suit, with black accessories—usually a silver fox necktie and a dash of white at the neck or in the hat trimming.

Some distinguished costumes were all black with the exception of a band of white ermine edging a short cape and a white cord or feather in the black hat.

Navy was a popular choice, with beige running a close second. A light chocolate shade of brown continues in popularity, but is smartest when matched with the same shade in the straw or fabric hat, and worn with beige or pale yellow accessories.

Straight Silhouette Easter's fashionable prominers proved their preference for two or three fitted silhouettes—the straight, slim and fitted silhouette in tailored suits and coats, and the mushroom silhouette that dips at the elbows or mid-waist, where fur is used in generous swirls, or sleeves puff out or flow into broadcasting lines.

Contrasting with and emphasizing a tailored simplicity, was a dash of feminine detail that softened the whole effect in numerous attractive ways. Much luxurious fox fur was used on sleeves or edging a cape; separate silk scarves were tied in big bows at the neckline; fur neckpieces, gracefully dropped over shoulders, accomplished the much-liked broad effect.

Force Put To Work Writing Tax Cards

County Treasurer Pitts Desirous Of Getting In Tax Money At Early Date

County Treasurer William O. Pitts has added a dozen clerks to his force to write up the tax statement cards, which are soon to be mailed out to taxpayers. It is estimated that with this force the work can be completed inside of two weeks, after which the cards will be mailed.

Work of getting out the cards is being hastened, owing to the fact that the county is needing tax money. The last $20,000 borrowed by the county commissioners for poor purposes, was paid into the county treasury today. This makes $60,000 in all that has been borrowed, and it was intimated that no more can be secured.

For this reason it is necessary to get some tax money in as soon as possible. Expenses of the poor department are still running around $20,000 per month.

There are 627,334 square feet of floors in the U. S. Capitol building, in Washington.

BIRTHDAY PARTY AT DEACONESS HOME

The Deaconess' Home on Phillips street was the scene of a merry gathering Saturday evening when a group gathered surprise fashion to honor the birthdays of Miss Beulah Magruder and Miss Ida Schnackel.

Misses Anna Withers, Eve Nicklin and Merle Kolb had prepared a delicious chicken dinner and when the guests had assembled Misses Magruder and Schnackel were invited to come to the dining room, where they were greeted with cries of "surprise."

The table presented a most "Easter" like appearance, with a black candelabra placed in the center of the table and in it glowed five candles, each of a pastel shade suggestive of the season. At either end was a green bud vase holding a pink rosebud and greenery, and at each place was a clever and original place card in the form of an egg, while a "bunny" guarded each plate.

At the honored guest's places were placed a number of gifts in commemoration of the event.

Many original and clever stunts kept the group in a state of merriment until a late hour.

SPIRIT OF OPTIMISM IN THE DRIVE FOR JOBS

PRESIDENT HOOVER has expressed much gratification over the report which has been made to him concerning the results of the drive for jobs which is being made under the direction of the American Legion, the American Federation of Labor and allied organizations. Chairman McKee, who is directing the campaign, informed the president a day or two since that the drive had resulted in adding 312,897 men to the nation's payroll. It has really done more than that. It has strengthened the morale of the American people. The sight of jobless men going back to employment has created a spirit of hope which is sweeping over the country. A knowledge of the fact that something is being done to bring this depression to an end is helping to create confidence in countless communities from coast to coast.

Canvassers connected with the Legion and the other organizations have been pleased with the manner in which they have been met by employers. It goes without saying that men who are without money can not buy and that there can not be a wave of increasing buying until the unemployed are put back to work. Many employers have felt that it has become a patriotic duty for them to give and even to create jobs for those who are willing to labor. So far the campaign has been conducted in 1791 communities; and since February 15 an average of 60,000 men have been put to work each week. Plans are under way for organizing 5000 other communities. If the present progress continues, the goal of returning at least one million men to work will have been reached.

But no matter how many or how few get their jobs again, the movement has been a vital one. It has renewed the courage and the confidence of the American people, traits for which they have been noted from the very beginning of the government.

ZONING

The constantly increasing density of urban populations and the growing complexities of modern civilization have made scientific planning, and zoning includes segregation of industrial, commercial and residential sections, and regulation of building heights, area or bulk.

Zoning is of recent origin, but it has had a remarkable growth in the United States since 1916. The first comprehensive zoning ordinance is said to have been that enacted by New York in 1916. Today 825 municipalities, having a total population of 39,000,000 people, are growing and improving under zoning regulations.

Because of the general principle of the common law that an owner might use his real estate as he saw fit, so long as in so doing he caused no damage to his neighbor, zoning when first undertaken found little favor with the courts. Eventually, the courts found the whole plan of zoning to bear a substantial relation to the public health, safety, morals and general welfare.

Zoning is gaining wider public favor because it is a protection to the property owner, contributes to civic beauty and provides a plan for the orderly and healthful growth of the community.

OVERDOING IT

The special coinage menace, for the abolition of which President Hoover recently took the initial step, is not a very great one—except to the unfortunate who buy the half dollars, thus providing themselves with a life-long problem as to what to do with them and where to keep them—but it would seem to be a sound principle to end it.

When the scheme was originated it was a clever and intriguing idea; it was an effective stunt for raising funds commemorating such anniversaries, for most of the special coins have been sold for $1 each, 50 cents going to the government and 50 cents to the association promoting the celebrations. Stone Mountain monument and a number of world's fairs have benefited financially by this method.

Now that it has degenerated into a system it is best to place some limitations on the practice or end it completely. There are too many other cheap ways for congressmen to do favors and for organizations to get something out of the government for nothing. Even though the cost be negligible, it is unwise to encourage systems for getting something for nothing out of the government.

Things of this sort are too good to be spoiled by abuse, but they always are. Worthwhile movements originate only to see them taken advantage of by the unworthy. Precedents are embarrassing, if not dangerous, in a democracy.

A TEMPERED WINTER

Although King Winter descended upon this community during the early part of March and gave us a sample of what one considers old-time frigidity, the season as a whole was remarkably mild. Economically speaking, the wind was tempered to the shorn lamb. Outdoor work could be pursued much of the time with little handicap from the weather.

Never has the weatherman been more versatile in his offerings. At the same time that Western Pennsylvania was enjoying sunny, balmy spring days, Pasadena, California, was having its first snowstorm, in absolute defiance of the Chamber of Commerce, which denies the possibility.

Not only was California made the victim of freakish weather, but many parts of the greater west experienced cold weather which was in marked contrast to the balminess enjoyed in the east. Copious rains occurred in parts of the south, and the southwest was pleased to have many of its great dams filled almost to capacity.

Was it a healthful winter here at home? Opinions differ. There was a "flu" epidemic, to be sure, but for the most part the attacks were not severe. There was doubtless some gain for health in the added outdoor enjoyment which the springlike days made possible and at the same time some increase of risk that colds might be contracted undue exposure.

It is up to the scientists to tell us whether or not we may expect a repetition of unseasonable weather in the years just ahead. The scientists, however, differ quite a bit on the subject, and an enterprise projected for the winter months must be "a leap in the dark," as far as weather is concerned.

Those who feared we might not enjoy spring and summer because we had no winter will have no more worry. The really cold weather felt doubly severe because we were not used to it. Summer, with its dependable warmth and opportunities for outdoor recreation will be just as welcome as ever.

Speak Right Up
Write Clearly
Or Retire to Silence

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Once, I remember, I met a man who had read something I had written.

He told me so. He brought the subject up himself. I did not—I'll swear I didn't.

He went into considerable detail about that little article. He praised it. He was even able to remember a couple of sentences out of it.

He was a most attractive conversationalist. It was most pleasant to listen to that man. . . . Until he came forth with something that blew me apart.

Hesitatingly, almost embarrassed, he said: "But, you know, I didn't quite get the main idea of that article."

And all my pride went up in smoke. And the sun went out of the sky. And my little toy balloon slipped from my childish grasp and went bob-bob-bobbing over the rooftops and over the trees. I was ashamed.

I flushed painfully, and I had no words left to explain to that man just what I HAD been trying to say.

Because I had committed the worst sin that people who fumble words can commit. I HAD NOT BEEN CLEAR. I had messed around and decorated my subject and concealed my meaning with accessories. And I had failed completely.

Either I had had nothing to say or I had said it so badly that no one could understand my meaning. I had been vague. I had been a sloppy workman.

There are people who talk that way. Their words tumble forth and sprawl on the ear. They've never learned how to speak plainly and there may be some excuse for them.

But the man who writes for a living, who gets PAID for writing or who dares to clutter up clean white paper with written words, should be ashamed of writing so vaguely that people who are kind enough to read him cannot understand what he is writing.

And the "main idea" of this article is that human beings who write or who talk should—

Speak right up. SAY what they think, use words that their listeners understand, or—

Retire to a desert island.

THE LAUGHING HYENA

I heard the caged hyena laugh. It chilled the blood of me. To get from such a craven beast so wild a shriek of glee.

"What is it that you ridicule?" I asked him there and then. And fancied that I heard him say: "The boastful race of men."

"I know I am a sullen thing; to viciousness a slave, Spurred on by hunger there are times I'll rob a human grave."

"The books of men have writ me down as cowardly and base. Because unto the light of day I seldom show my face."

"But still, hyena though I am, to that I'm reconciled! 'Tis only man who ever thinks to steal a brother's child."

Return Of Lloyd George To Politics Promises Diversion

Recovering From Illness, Fiery Liberal Leader Is Expected To Arouse Party To Effective Opposition In Free Trade Fight

American attention follows the movements of David Lloyd George as he stages a vigorous come-back in British politics, attacking the leaders of the present coalition government and denouncing the protective policy. It is forecast that a new Liberal party may arise to offer effective opposition to the majority. The force of his utterances before the Junior Liberal club indicates complete recovery from the illness from which he has been suffering, while the timing and method of his return to the political stage evidences his old-time vigor and shrewdness.

Viewing the return of the former leader as part of a drama played on the stage of English politics, the NEWARK EVENING NEWS continues: "Suddenly there are alarms off stage. A steady stream of sounds. There are excursions, and the trample of feet. Is the mob rising? Are the sans culots coming? As the noise grows louder the audience leans tensely forward. Nearer and nearer. The wings tremble. Even the actors pause and look about, bewildered. This was not in the script! And then with a crash of drums there dashes upon the New Empire stage a small, white-furred figure wearing a long knitted tippet. What! Is it Alice's rabbit? The newcomer takes the center of the stage and plunges forth into a speech. Why are the bell ringers crying? If it is that they have received no order, we will ring our own! Sham—hobby-horses—straddlers—! The audience settles back in its seats. There are cheers, whistles and stampings from the galleries. Lloyd George is back. Let the play go on!"

"It was inevitable," avers the NEWARK EVENING NEWS, "the coming of a free trade would rise in England, and Lloyd George is now making his bid for the place." As to his recovery of old-time form, the Banner says: "Lloyd George was apparently the militant, resourceful campaigner of old as he spoke before the Junior Liberal club in London. He raked the government over the coals in general and in particular he roasted his former colleagues on the ground that they had betrayed the Liberals by their abandonment of free trade, electoral reform and national reconstruction on which the Liberals used to base their fight. He displayed all his old talent for telling phrases, ridicule and epigram and he roused enthusiasm from his hearers. England has never produced a more versatile campaigner or a more deft opportunist than Lloyd George and he seems to be himself again."

"He is a shrewd politician and knows when to strike," according to the NEWARK EVENING NEWS. "Just now, Great Britain is expecting much of the new tariff. The feeling is that the country is in a position to hit back at nations which have been imposing high tariffs on British goods, while themselves selling much to British consumers. But the high tariff wing of the Conservatives has led the government to go too far. For example, the agricultural interests, long subordinate in England, may demand and obtain protection on foodstuffs, which will raise the cost of living. In case there is a reaction toward the former policy, Lloyd George, clad in the armor of a 'free trade knight,' will be in a position to benefit."

"The overflow meeting that greeted him was evidence of the popularity in which he is held by a large section of the British public," declares the NEWARK EVENING NEWS. Quiet Prevails In Ohio Mining District Today

Fifty Miners Go To Work
Undisturbed Near
Newport, Ohio

SNIPERS MAY
RENEW ACTIVITY

Miners' Families Are Imper-
illed By Bullets Ploughing Into Homes

(International News Service)
NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Mar. 28.—While Sheriff Harry C. Smith prepared for another threatened gun battle with snipers similar to one Saturday when 250 shots were exchanged with guards, 50 miners went to work undisturbed today at the Wolford Coal Co., mine near Newport.

The rat-tat-tat of machine guns and the crack of rifles, heard Saturday night when nearly 1000 alleged strikers and sympathizers tried to enter the mine, only to be balked by guards and deputies, will be heard "again this week," according to reports reaching the sheriff.

Quiet Today.
All was quiet at the mine this morning.

Bullets pierced miners' cottages and whizzed dangerously close to miners' families in the Saturday battle. A two-year-old son of Frank Ulrich, a miner, escaped death only by six inches, it was reported.

Bullets also flew close to Mrs. Albert Walker, a miner's wife, who held a week-old baby in her arms. Two hours after the fight ended, fire broke out mysteriously in a pickets' tent. When the shooting was at its height, a new searchlight blazing down from the mine tipple was riddled by a bullet.

De Valera sought the advice of Conor Maguire, Attorney General George Gavan and Michael Duffy, who were among the signatories of the Anglo-Irish treaty of 1921, as well as Senator Michael Conyn and numerous constitutional lawyers. All are assisting in drafting the reply, which will be considered at an Irish Free State cabinet meeting tomorrow and probably be delivered to London on Wednesday.

Celebrants Not Molested.
International News Service learned from a reliable source today that the surprising and unprecedented absence of untoward incidents during yesterday's Republican jubilation ceremonies throughout the country was due to the fact that Minister of Justice George Hegan directed General O'Duffy of the Free State army not to molest the celebrants.

At Hegan's request, members of the Free State army were kept in the background. Reports from various districts revealed that the strength of the Irish Republican army is far greater than previously believed. More than 15,000 members marched in yesterday's processions, openly identifying themselves with the Republican cause.

then carried her unconscious form into a box car where he attacked her.

Crushed By Train
According to the official version of Eddington's story, the itinerant struck the girl over the head with a rock after the attack. In a desire to cover his act, he then tossed the girl to the tracks just as a freight train was rapidly approaching.

Eddington said the roar of the oncoming train seemed to partially revive his victim. The girl began to recover consciousness and struggle feebly to drag herself from the path of the approaching train. She was too weak and in a moment the freight train crushed her to death.

POLICE IGNORING DEVELOPMENTS AT NORFOLK, VIRGINIA

"Investigations of the Purple gang are being conducted all over the country," Schwarzkopf's statement concluded. "Most of these are independent investigations conducted by local police departments which are not making any reports to us of their activities or findings."

Leaves For Hopewell

NORFOLK, Va., Mar. 28.—Negotiating for the return of the kidnapped Lindbergh baby, Dean H. Dobson Peacock, of Christ Episcopal church, one of three intermediaries, hopped off for Hopewell, N. J., to confer with Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, shortly before 11 a. m., today.

Dean Peacock left secretly in a navy land plane from the Naval air base here. Fog, and poor visibility endanger the flight.

His departure was not made known until John Hughes Curtis, boat builder and fellow negotiator, announced it several hours later.

Read-Admiral Guy H. Burrage, retired, is the third emissary.

Originally Curtis, Dobson-Peacock and Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage planned to fly to the Lindbergh estate following a secret trip by Curtis reputedly to make contact with an agent of the kidnapers.

"Weather permitting," Curtis told International News Service, "the Very Rev. Dobson-Peacock will fly alone in a navy plane to confer with Col. Lindbergh."

"I am not going today. The matter of the Rev. Dobson-Peacock's flight depends solely on weather conditions."

After an all night rain, the sky was clear and fog appeared to make flying difficult.

Curtis left his home this morning by a back entrance, driving to his office. After he announced the change of plans, he went home again to get a much needed rest.

While Curtis was still at his office, three navy launches stopped near the Curtis plant, which faces the river.

It was believed officers from the naval base here supplied Curtis with weather reports.

Hopes Are Stronger

Trenton, N. J., Mar. 28.—Recovery of the Lindbergh baby kidnapped March 1 today may be a matter of a few days at most.

The three Norfolk, Va., emissaries of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh were to visit the Lindbergh home near Hopewell, N. J., today, flying from their city by airplane if the torrential rains and winds, that kept up through the night abated sufficiently to permit the trip.

In a telephone conversation with International News Service today, the Very Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock, Dean of Christ Episcopal church of Norfolk, told of the strong hopes of consummating negotiations with the kidnapers soon.

He was called soon after John Hughes Curtis, shipbuilder, returned to Norfolk after a secret trip, reputedly to make another contact with the abductors.

"I am very optimistic Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., will be in our hands, or that of his parents, LAST AD LINDY soon," Dr. Dobson-Peacock said.

"It may be a couple of days, or even sooner, but I am certain the baby will be returned safe."

"Weather permitting, we will fly this morning to Hopewell to confer with Col. Lindbergh."

Answers No Questions
The refused to answer questions regarding the ransom, if any was demanded by the kidnapers, who since the appearance of the Norfolk negotiators are believed to be holding the baby on a boat in some inlet or near the dismal swamps of Chesapeake Bay.

The third Lindbergh envoy in the Southern city is Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage.

It was understood all three would come to the Lindbergh home atop Sourland Mountain for the conference at which final plans for obtaining the child were to be discussed.

Although the Lindberghs themselves in some quarters were reported highly elated over the prospects of the Norfolk lead, police remained skeptical of its value, at least in official bulletins.

"Colonel Lindbergh has no knowledge of developments at Norfolk as outlined in your message query," Captain J. J. Lamb, of the New Jersey state police, answered reporters who asked him regarding the activities in Virginia.

"As previously stated, he does not believe the information at Norfolk is of specific significance in the case."

A machine-gun engagement which opened Saturday night continued today. The Chinese blamed the Japanese and announced that twenty Japanese soldiers had been killed.

New Troops Landed
Wu To-Chen, mayor of the native city of Shanghai, told International News Service this afternoon that the Japanese have landed new troops in the vicinity of Liuhao and are completing a strong defense line extending from Nanzang through Malon and Kating to Laotang.

Japanese and Chinese outposts are constantly exchanging shots in the neighborhood of Hutangtu, Anting, Chukachao and Fangtang. Each side accuses the other of starting the firing and violating the truce supposed to be in effect while the peace parleys are on.

The situation at Anting is particularly serious and residents have become panicky. Several hundred Chinese attempted to flee to Shanghai but Japanese sentries refused to permit them to cross their lines unless they were vouched for by the Red Cross and transported in Red Cross trucks.

Avenue Claims

Council Votes Reluctantly To Pay Grading
Claims

Upon the recommendation of Solicitor Robert White today council which met in city hall voted to pay damages amounting to $821.84, with interest for several years as the result of the grading of Clarence avenue.

Council was not in a paying mood today but White told the council that under the circumstance he believed it for the best interest of the city to make payment.

He said that the work was done in 1926 after damage waivers had been signed and the city confessed judgment but in 1927 the court appointed viewers.

Damages and benefits were determined upon. The benefits amounted to little and the damages awarded follow: Catherine Young, $500.92; Howard Thompson, $160.46 and John G. McGuire, $100.46.

White said the viewers paid no attention to the damage waivers. Efforts to settle have met with refusal, according to White and the property owners want the damages awarded by the viewers.

Council reluctantly voted to pay the damages after White had told them he did not feel that he could win if the case went to court.

BUNNIES TO GET TURNIPS TO EAT

One field of the state game propagation farm near Harlanburg will be an unusual one this year.

Bunnies, perhaps a couple hundred of them (or a little less), will be hopping around in one of the fenced fields, happy, frisky and unaware of the fate awaiting them when they are released in the late summer.

For the first time in the history of the local game farm, the experiment of raising rabbits will be tried. Hitherto the farm has confined its efforts with the propagation of pheasants. The bunnies will be distributed in June. The families will be given a start very soon now—traps will be set on the game farm and vicinity.

"What will they eat?" Game Keeper V. T. Warfel was asked. "We'll plant a couple plots of turnips, for one thing. That will probably be their chief item on the menu," he explained.

DANDRUFF A Sure Way to End It

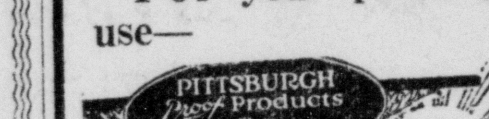

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

State Plan To Aid Sanitation

Clean-up Program If Followed Will Bring Results

APRIL 4, FIRST CLEAN-UP DAY

State departments of health, welfare, forest and waters, bureau of fire protection, State Police, have designated the week beginning Monday, April 4, as "Clean-Up Week" and the state movement insofar as it applies to this city, has the hearty cooperation of Mayor Charles B. Mayne.

The annual custom has resulted in developing a state-wide interest in sanitation and removal of nuisances and fire hazards.

Here's the state plan of "Clean-Up Week."

Monday, April 4—Highway day. All sidewalks and streets should be cleaned, gutters cleared, ditches opened, sewers flushed.

Tuesday, April 5—Forest day. Disposal of brush, litter, rubbish. Burning should be done on damp days when help is available in case a fire should spread. Never burn brush during dry, windy weather.

Wednesday, April 6—Fly and Mosquito day. All cesspools should be cleaned and lined. Outhouses should be made flyproof. Stable yards, pig pens, chicken coops should be cleaned. Water holes should be filled, spouting mended and garbage cans thoroughly cleaned and scoured.

Thursday, April 7—Junk day. The accumulation of junk, trash, particularly in attics and cellars such as old books, papers, clothes, rags, bottles, cans and ashes should be removed. Cellars should be thoroughly cleaned and whitewashed.

Friday, April 8—Finish up day. Put on the extra touches, gather together the loose ends and resolve to keep the community cleaner than it has ever been before.

The heads of the various state bodies report that past experience indicates that, thanks to community cooperation, a campaign along the program suggested in the foregoing will be followed with most excellent sanitary results.

Clendening Gives Diet For Reducer

18-Day Menu Termed Satisfactory 'But Monotonous'

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

"Please print the Hollywood diet for reducing. Do you recommend it?"

The diet which has come to be called the "Hollywood diet" was recommended for the purpose of losing a pound a day for 18 days. Menus for 18 days are, therefore, furnished.

Breakfast always is the same—half a grapefruit without sugar, a slice of butterless toast, and one cup of coffee with a teaspoon of cream and a teaspoon of sugar.

The other menus for the first four days are as follows:

First Day.

Luncheon: One egg, soft boiled or poached; one slice toast, no butter; one-half grapefruit, no sugar; coffee.

Dinner: Two eggs, soft boiled or poached; one-half head lettuce, few calories dressing; coffee; toast, one-half grapefruit.

Second Day.

Luncheon: One egg, toast; one-half head lettuce, few calories dressing; coffee; one-half grapefruit.

Dinner: Large T-bone steak, broiled; one-half head lettuce, dressing; whole tomato; one-half grapefruit; coffee.

Third Day.

Luncheon: One-half grapefruit; one egg, toast; one-half head lettuce, dressing; six slices of cucumber; coffee.

Dinner: One-half grapefruit; two olives; one lamb chon, broiled; one-half head lettuce, dressing; whole tomato; toast; coffee.

Fourth Day.

Luncheon: One-half grapefruit; whole tomato, dressing; three table-spoons cottage cheese; whole wheat bread, toasted; coffee.

Dinner: Large T-bone steak, broiled; watercress; toast; coffee; one-half grapefruit.

Analyzing the first day's diet we find:

Three half grapefruits 30 3 0 132

Three slices of toast 48 9 2 228

Four eggs 28 24 328

Teaspoon cream 2 1 10 100

Teaspoon sugar 30 0 0 120

Teaspoon butter 5 1 0 25

Salad dressing 15 15 125

115 42 51 1059

The total number of calories is less than half enough for a 150-pound man at moderate activity. For a rapid reducing diet this is satisfactory.

The protein intake is very low, but for the short period the diet lasts no great harm can come from that.

In general, from a nutritional standpoint, I should say the diet is satisfactory. It could only be recommended for a short spurt, on account of the low protein, but that is what it is recommended for.

Its worst feature is its deadly monotony. The reducer consumes 47 half grapefruits. Only seven meals are without a half grapefruit. Eggs and head lettuce are frequently repeated. "A large T-bone steak" appears three times and broiled steak twice. Surely a resourceful dietitian could think of other ways of supplying fruit, green vegetables and protein.

NEXT: Good and Bad Features of the "Hollywood Diet."

Bible Class Holds Competitive Affair

Young Men's Bible Class Of The First Congregational Church Has Meeting

A very interesting meeting of the Young Men's Bible class of the First Congregational church was held Friday evening, March 25, at the church. In addition to the regular monthly business meeting, the committee in charge had arranged an impromptu program, in which every member had to take part.

Vice-President Stewart Cope acted as chairman of the contest, with Charles Henry as secretary. Harry Evans as literary adjudicator and John C. Williams as music adjudicator.

The first item was the champion open solo, which was won by Harry Evans. Richard Thomas of Hamilton street was a close second. The impromptu speech with a three minute limit was won by Richard Thomas, in a group of five competitors.

The duet competition, in which there were six couples, was undecided. The open solo competition brought out eight competitors. Richard Thomas was the winner in this event.

Impromptu reading of two verses of scripture Revelations, Chapter 21, Verses 19 and 20 was won by Richard Thomas. Another impromptu reading was won by W. P. Williams.

The evening proved most enjoyable to all. George Thomas of Energy, was a visitor.

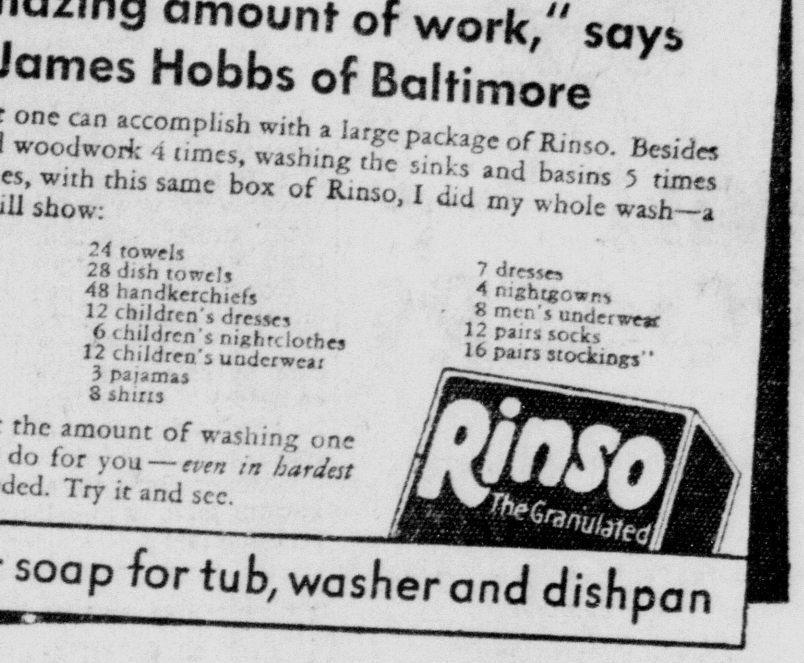

Nancy Westlake's Arm Is Broken

Miss Nancy Westlake, aged 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Westlake of Highland Avenue, is suffering from a broken left arm, sustained last Wednesday on Sheridan avenue, near Albert street. Miss Westlake was coming down Sheridan avenue, when a boy ran suddenly in front of her, about a yard away. It was either a collision or run to one side and she turned out to the curb. As she did so, her foot caught on the curb and she was thrown to the ground with considerable force, which resulted in the fracture of her arm.

Andy Pfahles Found 'Peach Limb' Water

Located Water Hole For Man Who Lives In Union Township

MAY TRY TO FIND WATER ON EAST SIDE

Publication recently of an article in which it was claimed that a person who knew how to properly manipulate a peach tree limb could locate water has resulted in the assertion by Andy Pfahles that it was through this method he located a Union township well.

"I was driving by a home one day and noticed a gentleman digging a hole. He already had dug several holes.

"You will never find coal there unless you dig deeper I said to the man.

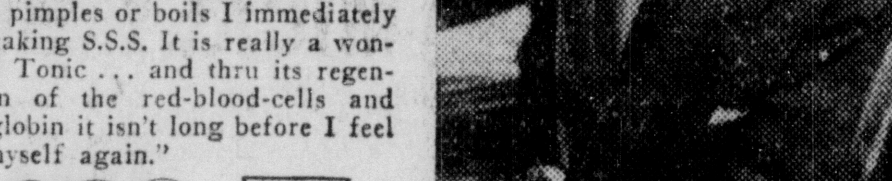

"Coal? I'm not digging for coal. I'm digging for water but all I have struck are dry holes he replied.

"Let me try and see if I can find

Don't let them count you out!

"It's great to feel well... that's why I am so cheerful—I have a good appetite... sleep soundly... and feel like doing my work or enjoying play.

"I never let a 'run-down' condition get the best of me. When I am troubled by overwork, worry, quick fatigue, lack of strength, loss of appetite, pimples or boils I immediately start taking S.S.S. It is really a wonderful Tonic... and thru its regeneration of the red-blood-cells and hemoglobin it isn't long before I feel like myself again."

Try it yourself. Get S.S.S. from any drug store. In two sizes: regular and double—the latter is more economical and is sufficient for a two weeks' treatment.

LOOKING BACK

IN NEW CASTLE

Harry J. Lusk, for many years a prominent business man of the city, and also mayor of the city, was a member of one of the leading families of North Beaver Township. He was born in this city April 18, 1867. He was a self made man. He was only four months old when his mother was left a widow, with four small children and as he grew into boyhood and manhood, he assumed responsibilities that sometimes rested quite heavy on him. As soon as he left school, he went to work in a brickyard, where he worked for two years, after that working for a year with an engineering corps. In 1884, he entered into the drug business with his brother, in this city, where he remained continuously with the exception of one year, during which he had charge of a drug store at Sharon, Pa. After gaining manhood, he took a very active interest in public questions. He secured the confidence of his fellow townsmen to such an extent that on February 18, 1908, he was elected mayor of this city on the

MAKES STATEMENT

To the Editor of
The New Castle News,
Dear Sir:—

Will you kindly insert the following in your paper.

I have always been under the impression that the intention of the Public Service Commission, which receives its authority from the Public Service Act was to protect the public of this state, and not one small corporation, and five other individuals of this vicinity, who have formed an organization, which applied for, and received Public Service Commission certificates, not to the benefit of the public of this vicinity, but to boycott a few others who are engaged in the same line of business, and who were giving better and faster service to the public of this vicinity, than the members of the said organization, who wish to maintain the high war time prices and also the slow service of that period.

I started operation in the transfer business three years ago, and invested my life savings in the business, without the knowledge that the approval of the Public Service Commission was required, and built up a small business upon which depends the living of my family and myself, and which I carry on at just and reasonable rates, which is a benefit to the people I serve, and to the discomfort of the said organization.

When I and other so called out-law transfer operators were notified by the Commission that a certificate was required for the operation of a transfer business, fourteen of us applied, with the understanding that there would be no protest of the persons then engaged in the business, by the persons who held the P. S. C. certificates, but when the hearing was held, five of us were protested, which was unexpected, unfair, and unjust, as we did not think it necessary to prepare any defense to off set the rapid fire questions of Mr. Young, who prompted by two of the members of the said organization, sat behind him firing questions at him faster than he could ask them, and Mr. Young did not need their expert advice with his experience as a Public Service Commissioner.

Their claim is that I cut the rates of the certificate holders, which is not true, as I have only charged a fair price for my service, and have not cut any set price of the members of the said organization, as I did not know what their prices were, and did not call on the phone to ask them, which is what they did by me by misrepresenting themselves.

The reason for not wanting me to be granted a P. S. C. certificate, is that they are desirous of putting me out of business, as I was only one who could compete with them, as I am equipped with a padded van, and an open truck, and could do any kind of hauling.

I was willing to go along with them in anything that was honest and fair, but was not wanted, on account of being able to compete with them with as good equipment as they own.

I am trying to earn a living for my family and myself at equal rates as any that is made, and as an American citizen have broken no laws have always paid my bills, and have paid taxes in this city for twenty two years.

At the hearing of the Public Service Commission, I could have had some of the leading business men of this city, and at the present time I am operating under legal advice so I am not breaking any laws. So I think this will prove that I am being boycotted by one certain small corporation and five other individuals.

Thanking you for the favor of printing this.

(International News Service)

PASADENA, Cal., Mar. 28.—The dying request of the Rev. Dr. William A. Burch, Pasadena pastor, was that speedy painless death be administered to persons incurably afflicted, his physician, Dr. Kenneth W. Taber, revealed today.

"I would be tempted to shoot myself if I were physically able," Dr. Burch told Dr. Taber, the latter said. "I would not want you to do anything unethical, but I hope you will do everything possible to end my suffering—as animals are relieved of their pain. I would suggest that a board of physicians and ministers be empowered with the right to painlessly end the suffering of those who are in agony and incurably ill—like myself," Dr. Burch was quoted.

Louis Wainstein Dies Under Train

Is Instantly Killed By B. And O. Passenger Train Early This Morning

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 28.—Louis Wainstein, aged 50 years, of 735 Park avenue, who operates a grocery store on Wampum avenue, met instant death under a B. and O. passenger train at 5:44 this morning.

Mr. Wainstein was struck at a point near Tenth street, a thousand feet above Eighth street, at a point where there is no regular street crossing.

Little is known of the circumstances surrounding Mr. Wainstein's death. According to members of his family he had been in poor health for some time and was unable to sleep well at nights. It is presumed that because of this fact he arose early to go to his store, and that he wandered onto the track and became confused when he saw the train approaching, walking in front of it. None of the members of the family saw or heard him leave, they said.

The train, No. 56, eastbound, was under the direction of Conductor Ed. Guthrie, with J. Thomas as engineer and Bert Myers fireman.

Neither Thomas nor Myers saw Wainstein until the train was directly upon him, they stated. They were unable to avert the tragedy.

Coroner Orville Potter, after investigating the occurrence, pronounced Wainstein's death as accidental.

Wainstein is survived by his wife and several children.

Funeral services are being held today.

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 28.—Efforts to write wet planks into the platforms of the two major political parties, will meet with the opposition of the national prohibition board of strategy, Edwin C. Winfield, executive secretary announced today. The ultimatum includes any effort to change existing law, no matter under what guise it may be made. Dinwiddie declared in no uncertain terms.

"Referendum," he observed only means resubmission for repeal. He addressed himself to both Republicans and Democrats. To the former he pointed out that "prevailing sentiment nationally among the body of dry Republicans throughout the country forces the conviction that the party cannot go 'wet' without abandoning all hopes of success at the polls."

"Numerous and well known state contests," were recalled by Dinwiddie, "in which dry Republicans refused to support the party candidate because of his known wetness and through this loss of support the party went down to defeat."

The Democrats were likewise warned against repudiation of prohibition. Dinwiddie said: "The board admonishes the Democratic leaders to profit by the experience of the past and not be led into repudiation of prohibition either in its platform or by its candidates."

Floyd Gibbons Says Revolution In Japan Is Not Improbable

Says Spirit Of Unrest Is Apparent In Tokio To Trained Americans

Women And Children May Be Sent To Manila, Forbes Returning Home

(The following dispatch from Floyd Gibbons, enroute home from China, was received last night.)

By FLOYD GIBBONS
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1932, by International News Service)

ON BOARD S. S. EMPRESS OF JAPAN IN MID-PACIFIC, Mar. 27.—Hello everybody and yo ho, my lads, yo ho.

The wireless operators just grabbed word that a truce, temporary at least, has been signed at Shanghai and that little Jimmy Jap and big John Chinaman are now sitting down crossing chop-sticks instead of meat axes.

That's hopeful and the world hopes it sticks. I believe the Japs are mighty glad it's over, because you know, things are not so good in Tokio. I talked with a number of Americans and Japanese there and found actual fear of a revolution in Japan. It was a surprise to me and I couldn't understand the prospect of a violent change of government in the face of a successful war and with the country throbbing with patriotic war fever.

Revolt In Air
But the thing was actually in the air, and there's no mistaking it when American old-timers, long resident in the islands, are making plans to send their women and children to Manila.

They explained there is little fear at present, at least, of a revolution from the red side because the police have the radical organization well in hand. But there's danger of the cabinet being overthrown and the diet closed by young military groups, which have been running sort of wild in their plans for a fascist uprising to establish a military dictatorship under the Emperor.

There's another big story buzzing around Japan, and the subject of it is steaming across this man's ocean right now on another ship several hundred miles behind this one. He is Cameron Forbes, retiring American Ambassador to Japan, who is returning home with Mrs. Forbes.

Tift Occurs

Well, sir, about six weeks ago, while Mr. and Mrs. Forbes were packing up their silk kimonos and carved ivory cigarette holders, which represents such a large part of Japan's industrial contribution to mankind—just then a spokesman of the Japanese foreign office called in American and other foreign correspondents and charged in plain language that America's Ambassador had just the same as called Japan a liar that Japan felt herself insulted and that if it were not for the fact that Forbes was almost as good as on his way home Japan would request his recall.

Of course, there had been some polite and diplomatic conversation between Forbes and Yoshizawa during that ticklish period of Stimson notes, when Washington was trying to reconcile the statements and promises of the Japanese foreign office with exactly opposite actions of the Japanese military in Shanghai. But that word "liar" was never used, nor anything like it—and that is a fact as was later stated by both Forbes and Yoshizawa.

Shenango Township Home Destroyed By Fire At Noon Today

Fire Believed To Have Been Caused By An Over-heated Stove

An old log house on the Savannah Road in Shenango township, just south of the city, a landmark of the district, which was remodeled at considerable expense last fall by Lionel Reno, the owner, was destroyed with all its contents at noon today, by a fire, believed to have originated in the second floor rooms of the house, from an overheated condition of a heating stove. The house has been occupied for the past six months by Harry Shoaff and family, formerly of South New Castle Boro. The loss is estimated at $1,500. It is not known whether insurance was carried on the property or not.

The fire started about noon and the building had been totally destroyed in about an hour, owing to the lack of fire fighting facilities. No one was injured.

SENTENCED TO PAY ONE-HALF COSTS

Bish Storman, who was found not guilty of aggravated assault and battery on John Khourney, but who was assessed half the costs, was sentenced to pay his share of the costs by Judge James A. Chambers in court this morning. Storman has been in jail since November 11. The other half of the costs were placed on the prosecutor, John Khourney.

Worrying about—
Blood Pressure?

At the first sign of danger, take a laxative. Cut down on alcohol, coffee and tobacco. Eat lightly for several days. Take a tablespoonful of mentha pepsin before meals to make digestion as easy as possible. Keep quiet until your stomach is settled and the dizzy spells have passed.

Have your physician check your blood pressure at frequent intervals. Continue to protect yourself by taking mentha pepsin before every meal. (You can get Dare's Mentha Pepsin from Eckerd's Cut Rate or any other reliable druggist.) Avoid heavy food and too heavy meals—especially at night.

Do this faithfully and the chances are that you will prevent—or at least postpone—the danger of a stroke.

Negro Woman And Children Escape From Blazing Home

Make Way To Safety Through Smoke-Filled Rooms, When Building Takes Fire

Mrs. Edward Lyles, negress, and three small children had a narrow escape from death at 8:35 Sunday evening, when the building in which they reside at 1315 Moravia street, caught fire.

Mrs. Lyles had retired with the children, when she was awakened to find the building filled with smoke. Grasping a child under each arm, and pushing the other ahead of her, she was able to make her way through two rooms to an outside stairway and escape.

The building is occupied on the first floor by Dennison brothers as a cleaning plant, and it was in their part of the building that the fire started, presumably from burning soot falling into a pile of wrapping paper and packing cases.

When firemen arrived from No. 5 department and Central station, they found the blaze had gained a good start, but they were able to get it under control in a short time.

A loss of approximately $600 was sustained on the building and contents. A number of garments that had been left to be cleaned were included in the loss.

After extinguishing the blaze, Assistant Fire Chief H. Clare Stockman left the place in charge of police to notify the proprietors of the cleaning establishment.

The building is owned by Mrs. Benny Kubinsky.

STIFFENING JOINTS COST MAN HIS JOB

Health Regained After Using World's Tonic—Wonderful Triumph of Modern Science Relieves Most Obsolete Case

Until recently people have believed that chronic rheumatism is incurable. Most ordinary medicines have proved of little or no value in treating this terrible affliction. World's Tonic, however, because it helps to reach the root of the trouble, is bringing relief to thousands who had abandoned hope.

Mr. Thomas Losen of Monessen, Pa., is one of the many who have placed their case records on file with the World's Medicine Company, in gratitude for his recovery. "I came from Sweden," he says, "and there, although the weather was cold and damp, I never had a touch of rheumatism, or any other sickness. I worked in the saw mill there. I was so strong that I could easily lift a log so big that two ordinary men would have trouble with it. When I got to America I went to work in the lumber yard. For a while I was as strong as ever. But after two years my health began to fail. I was constipated all the time and had to take physics every night to get my bowels to move. Then I was stricken with rheumatism. My joints became swollen and inflamed and they gradually got so stiff and painful that I could not work any more. I had some money saved, and I spent most of it on foolish so-called remedies, before I found out about World's Tonic.

"This valuable new remedy reaches the root of the many ailments. It is, I understand, made from plants brought from different parts of the world. And so, naturally, it helps put back into a newcomer's, as well as an American's system, the elements they need. And which we can not always get out of American food or from most ordinary American medicines. World's Tonic reached me of the poisons which had been piling up in my body and toned me up all over. A few months later my stomach was well, the catarrh healed and I stopped coughing and the inflammation and swelling in my joints left me entirely. I am now as strong as ever and I give all the credit to World's Tonic."

World's Tonic is on sale at Eckerd's, McKee's, Paisley's, Smith's, and all other modern drug stores. (B-66)

Smith And Davis Draw First Spots On Primary Ballot

Butler And Roosevelt Will Be Content With Second Positions On Ballot

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Pa., Mar. 28.—Alfred E. Smith, New York, will head the list of Democratic presidential candidates on the Pennsylvania ballot as the result of drawings today in the state bureau of elections.

Representatives of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, New York, drew second place on the presidential ballot.

The name of former United States Senator Joseph I. France, Maryland, was the only Republican entered in the presidential primaries.

The name of Senator James J. Davis will be in first place on the Republican ballot for United States Senate. General Smedley D. Butler will be second and William S. Adams, Harrisburg, third.

Butler is running as a dry and Adams as a wet.

Lawrence H. Rupp, Allentown, drew first place on the Democratic senatorial ballot, and Lewis C. Cassidy, Philadelphia, second.

Pennsylvania law provides that candidates for delegates to the national conventions must state whether or not they will abide by the vote of the electorate but there is nothing to bind them to it.

Frank P. B. Thompson, Philadelphia, a perennial candidate for public office led the drawing for the Republican nomination as auditor general. Frank Clemens, Dunmore, was second; Senator Frank E. Baldwin, Potter county, third, and Ralph E. Flinn, Pittsburgh, fourth. Clemens has no group support, while Senator Baldwin has the backing of the State Republican organization, and Flinn that of the Pinchot administration.

Title Games Tonight In Church League

Baptists And Wesley, Hearts And Baptists

First Baptist "A" And "B" Teams Will Play Wesley And Sacred Hearts

Fast Games Expected To Be Played, Interest High In Title Battles

Tonight at the Y. M. C. A. floor the New Castle Church Basketball teams will start the series to determine the championships of the "A" and "B" leagues. The first game will start at 8 o'clock.

The first Baptists of the "A" league will play the Wesley M. E. team. The Baptists won the second half title Saturday night by toppling the Epworth M. E. team in a fine game. The Wesley M. E. team won the first half title. A real battle is looked for when these two teams hook-up. Both are evenly matched.

The stage is all set for the playing of what looms as the finest and toughest series ever played in the history of the Church League. Sacred Hearts of the "B" loop will tangle with the First Baptists. The Hearts won the second half title and the Baptists won the first-half crown. There is a lot of interest in this "B" league title series and the boys will fight hard to win.

The "B" league was inaugurated two years ago and has produced some fine basketball. New Castle Church basketball is fast taking its place here as a leader, and the teams are giving their best. For sportsmanship the league cannot be beat.

Competent officials will handle the games tonight. Henry MacNicholas will have charge of the games.

New Castle Will Meet Sewickley

Local "Y" Grapplers Will Have Sewickley As Opponents Wednesday

New Castle "Y" wrestlers and Sewickley will go to the mat at the New Castle "Y" floor Wednesday night March 30, it was announced by Henry MacNicholas, physical director of the "Y" today.

It will be the final wrestling match of the year for the locals, before the State championships, and it is safe bet that Sewickley will be out to try and wrest the laurels from the New Castle men. Sewickley is slowly developing one of the best squads in the state and they will fight hard for the title this year.

There will be three bouts in the 115 pound class, one in the 125 class, one in the 135 class, one in the 145 class, one in the 165 class, one in the 175 class. There will be nine bouts of wrestling in all. The New Castle team is training hard for the coming match. They will miss Paul Alford, state champion, who was injured in a recent bout at Erie.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Pittsburgh Pirates management can see ahead, judging from their decision to admit free boys under 12 two days a week during the last two months of June, July and August. It means more interest, future business and perhaps several big leaguers.

Elmer Yoter, McKees Rock, has been appointed manager of the Danville club in the Three-I league.

Clifford Crawford, first baseman has been returned by the Cardinals to the Columbus club in the American Association.

Agitato won the Prix President Republic handicap steeplechase at 4,500 meters at Auteuil. Dambach was second.

Johnny Banko will face Patsy Hennigan of Clairton in the first prelim of a boxing show Friday night at Pittsburgh.

Banner Boys Win From Safety Five

Wampum Banner boys defeated the Safety five of New Castle 25 to 13 at Wampum, the Banner boys collecting enough points in the first period to win the game. The Safety five claims to have won 25 consecutive games and the defeat was the first in 26 starts.

First Baptists Defeat Epworth

Baptists Win Second Half Title In Church League 35-18

WILL NOW PLAY WESLEY TEAM

First Baptist quintet won the title in the second half of the New Castle Church "A" League at the "Y" Saturday night by toppling the fast Epworth M. E. team, 35 to 18. The teams were tied for the second half title by virtue of a lot of fine victories in the past few weeks.

The Baptists will now engage the Wesley M. E. team in the three-game series for the championship of the "A" League. The series will start tonight.

Hardfought Game The game Saturday night was a hardfought affair in the first half, with the score deadlocked at 13-13 as the half ended. The scoring in the second half was Baptists 22, Epworth 5. T. Wallace, Brenner and Baptiste led the Baptists in their fine victory.

The playing of Shaffer and H. Wyman stood out quite brilliantly for the losers.

The Epworth M. E. team deserves credit for the fine showing they made in the Church League this year, and especially in the final half of the league when they tied the Baptists for the leadership, only to fall by the wayside Saturday night in the playoff.

Miss Hill charged Hudkins betrayed her under promise of marriage and once had given her a severe beating. Hudkins denied both charges.

Battalino Seeks Canzoneri Next

Not Satisfied With Pasting Handed Him Recently By Petrolle

By LES CONKLIN International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Mar. 28.—The leather-pushing racket has been no bed of roses for Christopher (Bat) Battalino since the game little Connecticut Italian relinquished his featherweight title and began campaigning among the welterweights and lightweights in quest of a second championship.

Only last Thursday night the battle-scarred veteran suffered the first knockout of his career when he was cut to ribbons for twelve rounds and then stopped by Billy Petrolle, probably the toughest opponent that could have been picked for him. And now Bat's handlers are sending him against Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion and "next toughest" man on the list of prospective opponents.

I. N. S. Sports Editor Speaks Sure Venzke And Spitz Will Be Winners

Informs Dink Templeton, That California Boys Will Have To Watch Out

By FRANK G. MENKE International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Mar. 28.—Dink Templeton, somewhere in California, U. S. A. Dink, old boy, old boy!

What's the idea of you and some of our associate hurdlers in the Sunkist state (adv.) going around heaving insinuations and some of these ejectives at the timers and yardstick handlers along our Atlantic seaboard?

I see in the papers stories saying that it's got you all cock-eyed trying to figure out how come Gene Venzke to run a mile in 4:10, whereas, before this winter he never did much better than 4:14, and that you are utterly discomfited by reading that George Spitz leaped 6 feet 8 1/2 inches, yes, the very Spitz that couldn't do very much at all outdoors, only last summer.

This here bird Venzke actually ran a mile over that new track in Madison Square Garden in 4 minutes and 10 seconds, Dink, and there was nothing rinky-dink about the timing.

You haven't seen that track, Dink, and I guess that is why you are all in a daze over what's happened over it this winter. It's brand new, Dink, and it's banked, and it's so springy that if you dropped a California orange on it from a height of four feet you would find it bouncing in your California back yard the next morning, maybe sooner.

This Spitz fellow actually jumped 6 feet 8 1/2 inches, Dink, and I am very much surprised that you should be surprised about it. It was indoors, Dink—indoors—and a smart party like you ought to know that any athlete competing indoors can better his outdoor mark no little. And, furthermore, a jumper is greatly benefited because his takeoffs are from springy boards.

Spitz is Good. However, Dink, don't go wrong on this Spitz. He has an outdoor record of 6 feet 7-5/8 inches and if you have any sunbustlers out your way who figure they can "take" Spitz this summer, tell 'em to see that the Spitz tea is well poisoned before he goes into competition with them.

Meanwhile, Dink, we easterners are wondering what you hospitable Californians are going to do for the foreign athletes now that A. W. W. Woodcock, the prohibition geezer, (International News Service) SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 28.—Coach Robert "Dink" Templeton of the Stanford university track team admitted today he would not be surprised if blazing Ben Eastman would turn in 45.4 seconds for the 440-yard run before the season ends.

Friends offered Templeton congratulations on his star pupil's record breaking dash of 46.4, a full second faster than Ted Meredith's 16-year-old record of 47.4 for 440 yards.

K. Of C. Will Observe Golden Anniversary

Tuesday, March 29, some 600,000 Knights of Columbus, including several hundred in this city, and in all parts of the world, will celebrate the fiftieth or Golden anniversary of the founding of the order. Unfortunately not one of the original incorporators of the society is living to participate in the celebration.

The Knights of Columbus effected its first organization March 29, 1882 in New Haven, Connecticut, under the provisions of a charter granted by the state of Connecticut. Among the incorporators was the Rev. Michael J. McGivney, curate of St. Mary's church, New Haven, who conceived the idea of a Catholic Fraternal Organization which Catholic men might join without conscientious difficulty. He talked over the matter with a group of men in his parish.

On the third meeting, the name Knights of Columbus was selected. A petition for a charter was granted as has been mentioned. It had three degrees. Only Catholic and patriotic illusions were used in the ceremonial. The fourth degree, the purpose of which is to inculcate a love of country and to stress the duties of citizenship, was added in 1909.

The development of the Knights of Columbus was due in no small degree to the fact that it was made a fraternal benefit society right at the start. Today the order has a membership of over 600,000 in 2,500 councils, including St. Mary's Council of this city. The order has over $300,000,000 insurance in force.

The Knights of Columbus have never allowed themselves to be limited to the strict limits of insurance and social interests, and its work as a welfare agency is noteworthy. The order has helped the stricken people of Japan, the sufferers of the San Francisco disaster and the sufferers of various disasters too numerous to mention. During the Spanish American War, the order conducted a relief work for the typhoid stricken men of the army. They were again in evidence when the troops were on the border in 1916 and there is no one living today, who does not know of or heard of the wonderful work done by the Knights of Columbus during the World War. The post war contributions of this organization is too well known to need much explanation, especially the hospital welfare work, and the educational work for the former service men. The Knights of Columbus has also undertaken an extensive program of boy's work, which has proved very successful.

ROAMING

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

It was rather a short Spring after all. A little sun, a little rain and then socko, old man winter came back for something he had forgotten.

Short as it was it gave the sweet young things an opportunity to parade Washington street Sunday afternoon. Gowns that almost hid the shoes, in colors that almost shamed the rainbow. Orange-reds, hemmas, violets and greens. A color spectacle that dared the sun to come out.

Once or twice Sol stirred feebly, yawned slightly and then rolled over to sleep again. Taking advantage of the lethargy of the old boy, Winter sent his snow imps back again and at eleven o'clock the scene might have been the subject for Whittier's "Snowbound."

It was a great day for the youngsters. Every church in town practically had their services turned over to the juniors with many holding special cantatas in the evening.

Epworth M. E. had its gowned children's choir in the loft Sunday morning and sitting back in the balcony one almost imagined they had wings folded at their sides. Dropped in at the Emmanuel Baptist church in the evening where they were presenting a cantata. The scene in the front of the church looked like one of the paintings of a scene around Bethlehem. Artistically and mechanically it was well done.

Attorney C. H. Akens has a letter in this department today in which he says he has information concerning the route of George Washington. This information tends to indicate that the route taken by Washington was by way of the Ohio, Beaver, Connequenessing and Slippery Rock rivers.

Some years ago the Sons of the American Revolution had a committee at work on this matter, and Mr. Akens was a member of the committee. The probabilities are that John Kennedy Lacock would appreciate this information. His address is John Kennedy Lacock, president Boston School of Expression and Dramatic Art, Boston, Mass.

As a pastime stay away from grinding horseradish. Recently the folks decided they wanted some fresh horseradish and after searching the fields for a couple of hours enough roots of the high powered condiment were found.

Running one of these through the grinder would be elegant preparation for a sob scene in the movies. The fumes work their way up your nose and into the eyes, and after a couple of minutes at the wheel you're in tears. Not just garden variety but large globular ones about the size of a conny.

End Piles Quick

No Salves—No Cutting
Your itching, bleeding, protruding piles will go when you actually remove the cause—bad blood circulation in the weak, flabby parts—and not one minute before. Salves or cutting can't do this—an internal remedy should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record right in this city, that Eckerd's Drug Co., New Castle, has a bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your pile agony or money back.

Inclement Weather Holds Off Until Late In Day For Easter Display

Although advance predictions had indicated rain or snow, or both, New Castle women were able to display their finery unhampered Sunday, and quite a few were to be seen at church and on the streets Sunday afternoon.

While the weather was slightly chilly, it was not too cold to step out for a little while and show one's new clothes, and there were a great many who took advantage of the opportunity to cheat the elements. Things were different later in the day, a heavy snow starting to beat down about ten o'clock or shortly afterwards.

It Hopes To Help Needy As 'Moving Day' Time Nears

"Moving Day" is just around the corner for a family here and there in New Castle, and the City Rescue Mission has a plan outlined which may contribute welcomed help. Call 430 and you'll hear more about it, but, in brief, this is it:

Perhaps there's an old stove, old bed, old couch, old table that you haven't intended to move along, but perhaps you would be willing to donate it for some needy family's use. Well, that's just what's planned! And The Mission will co-operate with any donors.

Articles such as furniture, stoves, rugs, carpets, dishes, cooking utensils, pictures, curtains, papers, magazines and all sorts of things are needed.

The Mission also emphasizes its need for clothing.
